

Theatre students

One Man, Two Guvnors, by Richard Bean

based on The Servant of Two Masters by Carlo Goldoni, with songs by Grant Olding.

The National Theatre's smash-hit production transfers to the Adelphi Theatre in the West End from 8 November, with the original cast.

5 STARS Daily Express, Daily Mail, Guardian, Independent, Metro, Sunday Express, Sunday Times, The Sun, Time Out

'An evening of riotous delight... I found myself physically incapable with laughter.' Daily Telegraph

'One of the funniest productions in the National's history.' Guardian

'Slapstick, satire and gags galore: a classic comedy hilariously updated.' The Times

'One Man, Two Guvnors, one massive hit.' Independent

'An instant National Theatre hit. Terrifically bouncy and often howlingly funny.' Independent on Sunday

'The single funniest production I've ever seen.' Mark Lawson, BBC Radio 4

In Richard Bean's English version of Goldoni's classic Italian comedy, sex, food and money are high on the agenda. James Corden returns to the National for the first time since The History Boys to play Francis.

IMPORTANT INFO

During Wednesday and Thursday this week we will be hosting a meeting for all worldwide AHA site directors. They will be using the first floor wood-panelled classroom so no classes will be held in there on those days. Althea and Keith's classes will both be in the ground floor back room.

Having these site directors at the London Centre might also be of benefit to you if you're thinking of studying abroad in another country; don't be afraid to say hello if you see any of them wandering around, as I'm sure they'd love to talk to you! :-)

IMPORTANT INFO

Don't forget to complete your online evaluations - they are really valuable to the improvement of the programme and much appreciated.

If you've lost the link, please email Maggie or Mary :-)

Whilst we do our best to ensure the bulletin is as accurate as possible, sometimes things change last-minute! Keep an eye on your email!

This Week's Events

Monday 5th December

- Morning
11.45am Classes at AHA as normal
Mandatory student meeting (longer than usual as dealing with your return to USA)
- Afternoon
Food class at AHA as normal
EU students: Final exam
- Evening
Theatre students: One Man, Two Guvnors 7.30pm at the Adelphi Theatre, Strand. Easiest by bus: catch the no.91 from Theobald's Road (towards Trafalgar Square) and alight at Bedford Street. The theatre is just across the road. (Or take a walk, using the map...)

Tuesday 6th December

- Morning
Britain Today class at AHA as normal
Art class at AHA for revision/review session
- Afternoon
Food class: Final exam
Theatre class at AHA as normal for exam prep.

Wednesday 7th December

- Morning
EU students: no class
- Afternoon
London Biog class at AHA as normal for revision/mini quiz
Theatre class: Final exam

Thursday 8th December

- Morning
Art class to start at 10am for Final exam
Shakespeare students: come in at noon to hand in papers
- Afternoon
London Bio students: Final exam
Britain Today class at earlier time of 4pm

Please join us after Judy's last class for a spot of farewell tea, cake and mince pie! (at the London Centre)

PLEASE do not leave any books with your homestay family!

All books handed out in your classes are yours to keep!
If you have any textbooks you don't want to take home with you bring them to the Centre and give them to Mary.

Looking Back...

We can scarcely believe the 13 weeks are nearly over!

From Martin, Maggie, Mary and all the tutors here at AHA: well done for completing the Fall Semester Programme! We hope you had a wonderful time in London and have made lifelong memories and friends.

All the best for your future endeavours. Don't forget to stop by to see us when you come back to London or email us with any exciting news! :-)

And if you enjoyed yourself enough to recommend us to all your friends, so much the better!

The AHA team :-)

See ya!

